Assistant Professor of Mechanical Engineering, Dept. of Mechanical Engineering

Gannon University's School of Engineering and Computing seeks an Assistant Professor of Mechanical Engineering. The appointment for this nine-month tenure track position begins in August 2022. The ideal candidate will be committed to excellence in innovative undergraduate education and will have significant professional or research experience in the fluid/thermal sciences, with experience in computational fluid dynamics (CFD) a plus. The successful candidate will teach at the undergraduate and graduate levels, lead student projects, prepare motivated students intellectually, professionally, and personally, and advise students.

Qualified candidates will be expected to engage in scholarly activities in keeping with the Boyer Model of Scholarship as is appropriate to the application and receipt of tenure and promotion at Gannon. Requirements include a Ph.D. (completed by August 1, 2022) in Mechanical Engineering or closely related engineering field; teaching experience in higher education is preferred. Candidates must be able to support and promote the University's inclusive Mission, its Catholic identity, and its liberal arts and professional education traditions.
